GOOD MORNING JUDGE

By RUDOLPH PERKINS.

Henry is in the jailhouse. Henry Lynch tried to trim an express company. The company was doing its part by Henry by paying him $20 a month for ordinary labor.

Sunday afternoon Henry was caught as he was leaving with some trimmings belonging to a patron of the company. This boy wasn't starving. He didn't need to do any such stunt. The trouble was, he needed a change from the tiresome business of turning in false fire alarms. He got tired of seeing the horses run and hearing the shrill whistle of the fire chief.

Once before when only a little fellow Henry was put away because he stole the things that wasn't nailed down. He told Detective Kelley, who arrested him, that he just didn't have anything else to do. If he had been stealing the things for a woman there would have been some motive. But these wasn't.

Judge Pugh said the only way to keep the express company from being forced into bankruptcy was to send Henry to jail and he wrote him down for ninety days.

Light-fingered Charlie. Charlie Williamson walked into the store of Mr. Mistovitz and inquired the price of a stove. Three dollars, the man said, and turned his attention again to a customer he was waiting on.

When Mistovitz looked around again, Charlie and the stove were gone. Fortunately there was no fire in it. He would have lost just as much coal. Charlie wouldn't have stopped for a little thing like that.

A couple of days later Charlie was walking around with a contented look in his countenance. Mistovitz got suspicious. He asked the cops to keep an eye on him.

Of course the court sympathized with a man who tries to get warm these cool nights, but it sympathized more with the man from whom Charlie swiped the stove and sent him down for 90 days.

When he gets out it will be time for the Criminal Court to hear about the rubber tires.

Can't Be Did. It is no use to try and run a perfectly respectable crap game. You get into trouble fast.

One o'clock Sunday morning, Bill Jones and seven other men were in his kitchen shooting craps. Not one of the bunch had a gun or a razor or even as much as a pint of likker.

At one penny a shot, 135 pennies had changed hands in the quiet of the morning before someone put the cops wise.

The cops broke in and there was some scramble. No one was actually caught rolling the bones, but they nabbed Bill for degradation. His kitchen by allowing it to be used for gaming purposes.

He swore he was innocent. How can any man like Bill hear the snapping of fingers, see a bunch of men squatting on the floor, singing "Come see how come eleven," without participating in the national pastime of his race?

The court refused to believe him. And so Bill was a little peeved. He must fork up a $25 bill.

Vengeance Was Here—Nix! The other day Bill Topp and his mother-in-law had a run-in. Bill was arrested for threats and released on personal bonds not to put them into execution.

Ma-in-law expected him to go to jail. She was rather irritated at Bill being loose again.

Ah, but she had something on Bill that would hold him, she thought. Bill not arrested for swiping some clothes. It happened last Christmas.

and all this time, ma-in-law had saved it for the psychological moment. She appeared against him again and made no bones about being sure that Bill would get all that was coming to him and then some.

Her son-in-law had a very lame excuse about taking the other man's clothes and keeping them all this time. He said some one gave them to him.

Bill swore that it was a put-up job as his mother-in-law had said to get even with him. But the court said that the other case merely resulted in finding out about this one.

Even now Bill will hardly go to jail as the court took notice of the attitude of ma-in-law and only find Bill $10.

The High Cost of Religion. "Judge, dis man made some sarnam remark about how much Ah put in de church collection plate. Dat ain't none of his business, dedder I put some r all Ah has. He cussed me and he hit me. Ah tore mah coat getting away him."

Charles Waters had to be begged to accompany his wife and family to church Sunday night. He was in a bad humor all the time.

In a seat in front of Charlie sat Mildred Carter. She was dressed up very well and according to what Charlie said, only put two cents in the plate when the dean passed it.

Hence the remarks. Later on the outside, Charlie slipped away from his wife and had some words with Mildred. Then they had a fight.

Mildred had given him a "black look" he said. He had a "black look" alright she said, but she didn't give it to him.

Charlie is out a $5 bill, for going to church on a Sunday night.

NEGRO CHURCH RUNS EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

White Cross Service Has Already Found Work for More Than 100 Persons.

More than 100 persons have obtained employment through the agency of the White Cross Free Employment Bureau, conducted by Rev. Dr. Simon P. W. Drew, pastor of the Negro Cosmopolitan Baptist Church, on N street, between Ninth and Tenth streets northwest.

Scores of names and addresses of negroes desiring employment are on the lists of the bureau, Dr. Drew said, and every class of worker can be supplied without cost either to the employer or the employee.

The bureau is open every week-day between 9 and 5 o'clock, and is located in the church.

"We have lists of persons seeking employment as houseworkers, chad women, chambermaids, cooks, nurses, office girls, telephone operators, stenographers, laundresses, hotel porters and janitors."

"Twenty-five girls have been registered as stenographers believing that the great shortage of white stenographers offers them an unprecedented opportunity."

One hundred women and girls are on the lists as maids, nurses, office girls and charwomen.

"About fifty women want employment as dressmakers, and about twenty-five as dressmakers."

"Many students from Howard University, Dunbar High School and Armstrong Manual Training School, Dr. Drew concluded, besides boys and girls from graded schools of the city have registered for any kind of work before and after school hours."

WOMAN KILLED AS AUTO TURNS TURTLE
Husband May Die and Baby Badly Hurt in Accident.

Washington, N. J., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Morris Greenberg, 39 years old, of Bethlehem, Pa., was instantly killed when hurled fifty feet out of her husband's overturned motor car here this morning.

Her husband was fatally injured and five of their children, one a month-old child, who was picked out of the broken windshield clinging to an unbroken bottle of milk, were badly hurt.

The accident occurred when Greenberg lost control of the car. The family was on its way to the wedding of Morris Wahl, of New York City, a brother of Mrs. Greenberg.

The car was completely wrecked. The injured were taken to Easton Hospital.

told of some of the work that is being done by the Red Cross, and urged upon his audience the necessity of leading a clean life, paying a high tribute to the work being done by the Gospel Mission.

L. Clarke, treasurer of the mission, The Baltimore Gospel trio furnished several gospel hymns during the evening, which were highly enjoyed.

Mrs. Rachel Munroe, vice president W. H. Poughon, assistant treasurer, of the mission also delivered brief addresses concerning the work of the mission and what it hoped to do in the future.

The jubilee services are in commemoration of the many things that the mission has accomplished since it was organized, and the officials are chiefly concerned over the fact that prohibition will go into effect on November 1.

WILL FORM DEFENSE UNIT AT MIDNIGHT

G. P. O. Forces Plan Addition to League Rifles.

A feature of the recruiting rally of the night force of the Government Printing Office, called for the purpose of organizing a separate unit of the Home Defense League Rifles, exists in the fact that its first meeting will be held at midnight tonight at what is known to them officially as their "noon" hour. By virtue of the fact that this branch of the service is obliged to work all night the reason for holding its initial rally at the time appointed is obvious.

"At the midnight rally tonight a quartet will sing patriotic airs, and musical recitals will also enter into the spirit of the gathering, as the boys are well provided in that respect. Col. M. A. Winter, commanding the Home Rifles; Lieut. Col. E. P. Hazleton, Maj. Oliver W. Phelps, Capt. Delos W. Thayer and other officers of the regimental staff of the rifle organization will be present to explain its plan of operation.

Head officials of the Government Printing Office have given directions not to ring the work bell until after the organization of the new company has been completed.

Ample accommodation has been provided for the installation of a rifle target shooting range in the basement of the Government Printing Office.

Bulgarian Scouts Idea Of War with Uncle Sam
The Bulgarian Minister said yesterday he had no anticipation of any declaration of war between this country and his.

"Bulgaria has no submarines, no fleet, nothing with which to damage the United States," he declared. "And from what I read in the papers, I do not believe that this country intends to make a declaration of war upon my own."

Dr. Panaroff said he had stopped calling at the State Department as he had nothing whatever to communicate.

LETTERS TO COST 3 CENTS AFTER NOV. 2

Postcards Will Also Be Cent Higher Under New Law.

Three-cent letter postage will go into effect Friday, November 2. On all first class mail matter, the rate will be one cent per ounce or fraction, in addition to the present rate. Written postcards will carry two cents in stamps instead of one. Printed cards will go at the present rate.

It is estimated that $5,000,000 will be derived during November and December in New York alone, from the increased postal rates, which were made law by the passage of the war revenue bill.

Miss Irene V. Connor has been appointed to the government service, and took up her new work the last of the week past.
